Feedback from Dr. Arnone on Assignment 3
*Lei Wang*12/2/19 6:49 AM
A Self-evaluation of My Contribution to Our Discussions

I feel I really deserve 20 points!!! To be honest, I have never actively engaged in a course like this course. Throughout this semester, I have made valuable contributions to our discussion. I respect all my colleagues' input, respond to my colleagues' questions or comments in time, actively participate in the discussion, especially in the week Melissa and I lead the discussion. In the discussion, I have reviewed most of the posts, respond to some, which really attracted me. I interacted with my colleagues in the following ways: I sometimes asked for clarification about their posts when I felt something missing or I didn't totally understand. I supported other colleagues' opinions by contributing evidence and examples from my perspective. I connected my input with the readings you have recommended. I nicely pointed out additional premises behind the other person's point based on the theories.

Feedback to Learner12/21/19 5:46 PM

Hello Lei,

Assignment 3 represents your contribution to the class through involvement in our weekly class discussions. This score is impacted by how often you contributed your own input, the quality of your input which reflects your engagement with each module's activities and readings, and your interaction with other class members through responding to their posts. I agree with self-assessment of your participation. You have definitely been a major contributor to this class and I will miss you!

I am happy to say that because of your regular substantive contributions as well as your support of other students, you have achieved the highest possible score for Assignment #3. Congrats

Score: 20 out of 20 possible points

I can now also provide you a summary of all your assignment scores and your final course which is a solid A! Congratulations, Lei!

Reading Quizzes Total Points of 10	A1	A2	A3 Intellectual Contribution	Total Pts	COURSE GRADE
9	35	35	20	99	A